PASSED SPURIOUS QUARTERS

Two Chicago Counterfeiters Captured at Fox Lake Saturday Noon

PASSED COIN IN HOTELS

Alfred Brown, Otto Muehrcke and Charles Crough Landed the Two Men After a Hard Fight on Railroad Bridge

Pursued by three men who had discovered they were passing counterfeit money, two "thovers of the queer" who went to Fox Lake from Chicago were captured after a desperate fight Saturday noon on the railroad track near the Muehrcke Hotel.

Alfred Brown, Otto Muehrcke and Charles Crough captured the men. When caught they had about $100 in counterfeit quarters on them and had thrown a lot more into the river. It is estimated they had all told $500 in counterfeit coin.

The men came out from Chicago Saturday morning on the first train and began to spend their money freely. They passed all about the village and it is said passed quite an amount.

The fraud was soon discovered and the two men were looked for by Muehrcke, Brown and Crough. They were discovered on the track, but immediately started to run, throwing the money away in handfuls.

They were finally overtaken but put up a desperate fight and it was long before the three could overpower the two. At last it was accomplished and they were taken into custody.

The United States authorities at Chicago, Commissioner Mark A. Foote, and his cordon of United States marshals, were notified and were expected to arrive at Fox Lake at 3 o'clock to take charge of the men.

The struggle between the Fox Lake posse and the gang took place in a dangerous spot, where a bridge spans the Fox river and lake end several hundred feet long.

The three men of the posse grappled each with his man and the struggling groups swayed to and fro on the narrow ties of the railroad bridge, with the water gleaming and dancing beneath, inviting to death, while in a few moments a train was due.

Had the captures not been made on time, the train might have run down the entire struggling mob.

The fact that the gang was working the slot machines with the alleged counterfeit quarters may complicate matters for the complaining witnesses in the remarkable case.

Members of the posse were all hurt more or less. The two alleged counterfeiters are in the Fox Lake jail. They were first noted when they are alleged to have passed spurious coin in the Fox Lake Hotel and to have worked the slot machines.

MUST REPORT ACCIDENTS IMMEDIATELY

Hereafter all railroads operating in the state of Illinois will be required to report immediately by telegraph to the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission a full account of all accidents in which there was loss of life or injury to person.

This action is the result of dilatory tactics of the various lines in making reports on the subject of wrecks. Circulars to that effect have been received by the officials of the railroads.

A similar circular letter has been sent to all interurban railroads in the state, including the Chicago & Milwaukee electric, calling attention to the recent order to Secretary William Kilpatrick of the commission to secure data on the rules and regulations of such lines for the operation of cars.

Electric cars must furnish statements in detail of their system of operating trains and cars. The order is a direct result of the terrible interurban wreck near Charleston, when eighteen were killed and a score injured.

Cygnets.

As many as 20,000 cygnets are killed every year to be converted into dainty powder puffs, to say nothing of the innumerable young birds of the elder duck and wild goose kind slaughtered for the same purpose. The bulk of these are imported—the geese and swans from the islands of the Baltic and from Norway and Sweden, and the elders from the northern and ice-bound seas.

LAKE COUNTY'S JUNIOR FAIR

Modern Woodmen of Gurnee Camp Hold Annual Harvest Festival.

The Lake County Fair, Junior, or in other words the annual Harvest Home of the Gurnee camp of the Modern Woodmen of America opens Thursday, September 26 and runs until Friday evening, September 27.

The first day is devoted to entries and to making places for entries, exhibits being received to noon on Friday, while prize awards are made on first and second best exhibits Friday.

Several hundred dollars in prizes are offered. All exhibits are donated to the camp unless reserved and are auctioned off to meet the annual expense account of the harvest home.

Last year the harvest festival, which is of course held in the Woodman Hall, was a grand success and attracted attention from one end of the state to the other.

This year this record is to be surpassed and the Woodmen are working with might and main to set a record for following festivals.

Gurnee camp of the fraternal order is progressive and growing. Refreshments will be served on both days and large crowds are expected. Scores of Waukegan men and firms have made donations for the prizes.

FARMER IS GORED BY A MAD BULL

Friends of James Monaghan, of Wauconda, were shocked one evening last week when news was telephoned to the village that he had been badly hurt by a bull while getting up the cows for the evening milking.

The bull came upon his victim unawares, knocking him to the ground and repeating the attack when Mr. Monaghan arose, and had it not happened that his face was near and the bottom wire high enough from the ground to permit of his escaping that way, it is more than probable the angry brute would have killed him. As it was two ribs were broken, one hand badly bruised and the whole body badly shaken up.

Dr. Fuller attended him, and as he was not badly gored by the bull, it is likely he will shortly be around again, though it will be some time before he will be able to perform his usual amount of hard work.

PLOWS UP COIN USED DURING REIGN OF GEORGE IV

Plowing beneath an old apple tree where evenings his family gathers to eat apples and enjoy the air, last week A. S. Chandler of two and one-half miles northwest of Gurnee, plowed up a gold sovereign of 1830, bearing the head of King George IV.

He at first thought it was a leaf when the plow turned it up from a depth of 8 inches, as did the boy with him, Lou Stedman. However, Stedman, after the coin had been turned under again, went back and with the plow brought it to the surface when the fact that it was a gold piece was discovered.

The coin is worth $4.80 on its face, but Mr. Chandler has been offered twice that for it. He thinks that the man of whom he bought the farm fifty years ago, a Canadian, lost the piece. The apple tree under which it was found has always been a meeting place for families on the farm.

CONSIGNMENT OF FISH FOR TWIN LAKES

Dr. A. M. Wray received a letter Monday from the Bureau of Fisheries, Washington, D. C., stating that a consignment of several thousand black bass would be sent within thirty days to restock Twin Lakes. This move which will be hailed with delight by the summer colonists around the lakes and others who enjoy the fishing at this popular resort during the summer months, was brought about mainly through the efforts of G. W. Eldridge and Senator A. J. Hopkins, Mr. Eldridge having made application for a consignment of fish about a year ago through Senator Hopkins, who took the matter before the bureau of fisheries with the result as above stated.

In former years Twin Lakes has enjoyed the distinction of being one of the best fishing resorts in this section, but the past two years the fishing has not been up to its usual mark owing to the large number of dog fish and carp which inhabit the lakes. These fish kill off the young pickerel, bass and perch in great numbers and consequently the number of game fish has been greatly diminished during the past few years. We have heard, however, that the lakes are to be reseeded late this fall and rid of these pests. If this is done the greatest drawback to the fishing will have been removed, and the lakes restocked with fish, in a few years time the fishing at this resort should again be up to its usual standard.

VOLIVA IS ELECTED FOR LIFE

Adherents Greatly Outnumber the Other Leaders and he Wins Out

BUYS LAND IN NEW MEXICO

Vote of 1,292 in His Favor Would Make Any Move to Dethrone Him Smack of Prejudice

William Glenn Voliva was formerly elected Sunday to the position of general overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church in Zion for life. This act was by the general ecclesiastical conference, held in a tent at Zion City, and the vote of 1,292 was pronounced unanimous.

The formal motion of Theo. Forby, sub-editor of the Zion Herald and a Voliva lieutenant, had been prepared before the conference met. As soon as Voliva took his place as presiding officer of the meeting he recognized Forby and it took the latter half an hour to read his motion.

In his speech of acceptance Voliva announced that a mass meeting would be held at which he would announce his plans regarding the pilgrimage to the New Mexico ranch where the new Zion City is to be established. He further said that he would have to have $10,000 in the next ten days, and called on all his faithful followers to contribute.

The action in Zion City affairs headed by John A. Lewis, named by Dowie in his will as his lawful successor, will have a general conference next week. Numerically it is not so strong in Zion as is the one headed by Voliva, but it has a greater support from the affiliated church throughout the world.

Voliva returned to Zion City Saturday and reported that he had purchased 25,919 acres in New Mexico as an abiding place for his followers, who will succeed with him from the city founded by Dowie but now ruled by United States courts and other influences repugnant to Mr. Voliva.

The exodus from Zion City to New Mexico is not to begin until next spring. Even then the hejira will be gradual. Only sixty families will go at first, and others will follow in small detachments. Voliva refused to tell where in New Mexico his new Zion is situated.

PUBLISHING HOUSE AND UNIVERSITY FOR MUD LAKE

With the motto, "Man's salvation lies not so much in his perfection as in his perfectibility," Lake county is to have a great publishing house, a great university and a great philosopher within her borders.

His name is A. F. Sheldon and besides being the head of the Science Press, a publishing house devoted to the interests of broader views of life, and the Sheldon Correspondence School of Salesmanship, he is also a brainy man of large ideas which he and his followers will try to live out just west of Libertyville on a large estate.

The Science Press is already removed to Libertyville to all intents and purposes and the complement of employees are rapidly filling all the vacant houses and rooms in the village. Mr. Sheldon is there himself and his family may be seen every day driving about in a smart trap, while Harvey Dangler Brasefield, formerly with Dowie, has also moved there. In all about fifty will come.

The Science Press issues the Business Philosopher, the "Philistine" of the business world, urging men of commerce to a higher viewpoint. It will be printed at Libertyville probably.

Out at Mud Lake near Rockefeller Sheldon owns 500 acres of choice land upon which he will build his university. A pond, Mud Lake, has been drained and when completed will be called Era Lake.

Origin of "Buncombe."

Buncombe county, North Carolina, has lent its name to the country's vocabulary and is a synonym of hypocritical enthusiasm, not because that is a characteristic of the people of that region, but because many years ago a member of congress from Buncombe county persisted in making a speech when the general exodus of members showed they didn't want to hear it. When it was intimated that he might as well stop, he replied: "Never mind, I'm talking to Buncombe." The word in its new sense was first applied to the speeches that were made in congress for the express purpose of being sent home to the admiring constituents and later received its present application.

NEW MARRIAGE LAW

Order From Rome in Regard to Marriages Causes Surprise Among Catholics

CIVIL MARRIAGES TO BE VOID

Priest Must be Present When Marriages are Celebrated Between Catholics

In practical effect the regulations of the Council of Trent, relating to marriage have been promulgated in all parts of the Christian world, by the decree just issued by the Congregation of the Council at Rome, concerning marriage of Catholics.

After Easter 1908, all marriages of Catholics must be performed in the presence of a qualified Catholic priest into writing, with witnesses, or they will be considered not only illicit, as they are now regarded, but also null and void.

All marriages before Protestant ministers or civil officers will be null and void and in the case of "mixed" marriages, or the marriage of Catholic and Protestant, the rite must be solemnized by a priest of the Catholic church, to be regarded as valid.

Two notable exceptions are allowed in the decree. The most noteworthy of these is that where no priest is obtainable in the district for a month, a man and woman may contract a valid marriage by merely announcing their consent or intentions in the presence of two witnesses. The other exception provides that where there is imminent danger of death and no duly authorized priest can be obtainable, any clergyman may perform the ceremony in the presence of two witnesses.

This issuance of this decree comes as a surprise to the Catholic hierarchy of the United States, whose members were not consulted in regard to it. Archbishop Messmer, in an interview on August 29, characterized the brief announcement in Rome as a "fake dispatch," saying that it was not usual for Rome to take a step so vital without consulting the bishops of the country which it would affect.

The new decree will work interesting changes. Justices of the peace of the Catholic faith, for instance, may no longer officiate at the marriage of Catholics without committing a grievous sin.

Hereafter the "tametsi" decree of the Council of Trent has never been promulgated in missionary or Protestant countries, and consequently was never in force there. In a few places in the United States, however, as St. Louis, New Orleans and Santa Fe, originally Catholic territory the decree has been promulgated and still in effect.

The present decree is broader in its scope relating not to places but to persons. It settles all difficulties arising from the marriage of Protestants in places where the "tametsi" is in force, but declaring that everywhere non-Catholics may validly contract marriage among themselves independently of the legislation of the Catholic church. The only non-Catholics who may come within its scope are those who have married Protestants or who have apostatized from the church.

One of the features of the new decree is the rule requiring that the marriages of Catholics must be entered, not only in the book of marriages, but likewise in the book of baptisms, and if the marriage takes place outside of the parish in which either of the contracting parties was baptized, the priest of the parish where the marriage was solemnized must transmit the announcement to the priests of such parishes, that the marriage may be entered in the book of baptisms there.

Parish priests who violate the laws thus laid down are to be punished by their ordinaries according to the nature and gravity of their transgressions.

MODERN WOODMEN MAY BUY SANITARIUM

The Modern Woodmen society has under consideration a proposition to acquire a sanitarium in Colorado for the care of consumptives. A committee has been appointed to examine the Salvation Army sanitarium at Amity, Col., a fully equipped institution, and they will report at the September meeting of the executive council of the society, on a proposition to buy the sanitarium. Should the committee report favorably the society will probably take over the Amity sanitarium and maintain it as a Woodmen establishment, for members of the society who become afflicted with consumption.

THAT TOUCH OF FEMININITY.

Mere Man Never Would Have Thought of Scrub Woman's Scheme.

"You can always detect the aesthetic note in the eternal feminine," said the observant bachelor. "There is just as much difference between the sexes as there was in that old era when the foxy Ulysses devised his trick to pick Achilles out from a bevy of Greek maidens. The other morning I was walking down Broadway to my office when I noticed a scrub woman coming from her early task in one of the big buildings in the financial district. In her hand she carried a newspaper that she probably had picked out of one of the waste paper baskets. When she got in front of the excavation for the big building on Broadway, near Cortlandt street, she stooped and picked up a piece of two-inch plank about a foot and a half long. She stopped and wrapped the newspaper around that board and made a bundle as neat as a box of candy, and trudged along. A laboring man might or might not have carried that piece of board home, but he wouldn't have thought of making a package so neat that it gave no suggestion of its prosaic but useful contents."—N. Y. Press.

Wanted to Help the Little Fellow.

Two men were engaged in sawing timber in the Maine woods. One was a big, brawny and very fierce-looking fellow, the other a meek and inoffensive little chap. They were using a cross-cut saw. A big Irishman happened along, and after standing there a few minutes watching them pull back and forth, decided that the big one was trying to take advantage of the other. The Irishman reprimanded the big fellow, which caused a row. After Pat had given him a good thrashing he turned and said: "Now, I giss ye'll let the little fellow have it, be-gorry!"—Judge's Library.

Works Both Ways.

Patient—I hope you will forgive me for troubling you to come, doctor. I was wretchedly bad three days ago, but I am all right now. Doctor—Ah! the old story; the doctor's always sent for too late.—Flegende Blaetter.

WAUKEGAN BOOSTER MEETING

Unity Recommended as Key-note of Civic Progress by Professor Ott

GIVES INSTRUCTIVE LECTURE

Opening Meeting of the Business Chautauqua Brings Good Crowd That Listens to Instructions

At the new Battery C Army Monday night the first of the general lectures in the booster movement for Waukegan was given by Mr. Edward Amherst Ott. The topic was "The Battle of the Cities," and the thought of the lecture was to place before the people of Waukegan the reasons for the varied degree of success which obtains in different cities and towns. A stereopticon was used to illustrate some of the points brought out, and the epigrams presented in the form of mottoes particularly interested his hearers. Among these were the following:

By right thinking does the race grow.
The practical and the ideal should unite in industrial life.

If we attain the ideal we must meet with the necessary struggle for life.

The ethical is the useful.
Our plan for success—loyalty and organization.

If the farmer does not prosper, the country suffers.

A prosperous city employs its young men; then they stay at home.
Idle men spend no money.

Touching on the competition of the large center for the trade of the relatively smaller community, slides were shown which set forth graphically the difficulties which attend big commercial efforts in the large centers of population. It was pointed out that one six-foot concrete foundation post extending down 110 feet to bed rock, which is necessary to sustain the great commercial structure in a city like Chicago, costs enough money to pay for a lot and building in which to do business in the smaller town.

Examples were given of window display, store interiors, rest rooms and other phases of merchandising activity in large cities and small towns. Necessarily they deal in superlatives, but carry home the lesson regarding the necessity for educating the public taste.

A few examples were given of communities which have utilized their natural scenic surroundings as sources of income through catering to the taste for the beautiful among tourists.

Spokane, Wash., was shown and cited as an example of broad-gauge boosters' work and reference was made to the campaign inaugurated by a league of commercial clubs in the four great northwestern Pacific states, which raised a fund of $100,000 with the distinct understanding that all was to be spent for advertising the possibilities and greatness of the farm, but not one cent directly for any one of the cities.

The final picture showed Rome in her ancient glory and the lesson was drawn that while Rome had everything, commercial artistic and educational to make her continuously great, she fell because the Coliseum and the Stadium became the centers of her thought and activity, diverting the energy of the people from those things which develop the capacity of the people for better and greater things.

The whole lecture was a plea for a greater enthusiasm and a large loyalty for Waukegan.

Waukegan will be no better than her people think she is. Let the spirit of co-operation which Miss Beasley needs in connection with Waukegan school system become the keynote of all the other civic and industrial interests of the community and it will go ahead by leaps and bounds.

Waukegan has everything to recommend it in the way of natural facilities, but it is only by the development of a consistent, sustained and active loyalty that the energies of the community can be so directly applied that local fictions will disappear and their future development be possible.

"Jacob's Ladder."

Among the staircases the world over none is so long or difficult of ascent as "Jacob's Ladder." This flight contains more than 700 steps, all rising with the same lift, in the same direction. The steps rise at an angle of exactly 45 degrees. "Jacob's Ladder" ascends a steep hill at St. Helena. The steps are naturally the most direct route to the summit of the hill, and despite their great length, are climbed daily by wayfarers.

The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1917, by Story-Press Corporation.)

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

"Under an awning, back of a vent-lator, making violent love to Miss Carney of Carney-Croft!" gurgled Miss Weston in a tone of waggish softness. How are we to address you in the future, my dear: 'The Rev. Mrs. Simpkins,' or 'Mrs. Rev. Simpkins,' or what, pray?"

"Wasn't he awful, Nan?" cried Miss Carney, laughing heartily. "And did you hear him saying good-by to the steward as we were coming into the dock?"

Turning to me she explained. "The chief steward was quite dead" and the reverend gentleman grasped him fervently by the hand and, rolling his eyes to heaven, said earnestly: "Good-by, steward, good-by! I hope we may meet again; if not on earth perhaps in the home above!" "Eh! eh!" cried the steward, putting his hand to his ear. "Wot line are ye goin' by?"

"How sailors do dislike to have clergymen on shipboard!" said Mrs. Randolph, in a conventionally apologetic tone as if, in her character of chaperone, she must be properly shocked at the levity of Miss Carney's narrative; but our merriment was too real to be subdued by a look, and at length she gave up entirely and laughed as heartily as the rest at the cleverly told little anecdote.

"There must be some reason for it," said Miss Weston with a chuckle, and then she added seriously: "The captain said we were lucky to get home at all with such a 'delegation of domestics' on board to enrage the elements and drive the officers to suicide!"

By this time the customs inspector had finished with the hand luggage and Miss Carney, followed by the others, made her way to the end of the pier to the carriage I had provided for their use, leaving her maid to look after the trunks and heavier pieces of baggage.

"You must come, too," she insisted, as I was about to close the door of the brougham. "You know, Martha was born and brought up in New York and she can attend to the trunks and find her way to the hotel without the slightest difficulty. Besides," she continued, as I obediently took the vacant place opposite her, "I want to see you, and talk to you, and hear some good 'United States' spoken again."

Her eyes fairly sparkled and her expression of vivacity made her face radiant.

"There are so many things I want to ask," she went on, "that I don't know where to begin, except that you must tell me the very earliest minute that we can start for home."

"Any minute you wish," I replied, laughing. "The place is ready and waiting for its mistress."

"Why, how did you ever manage to do it all so soon?" she exclaimed in unfeigned delight. Then, turning to Mrs. Randolph, she continued: "Mr. Ware is one of the most wonderful men in the world! He must be descended from the gent of old, for I can hardly express a wish to him before it is fulfilled. How did you do it, Mr. Ware?"

"It wasn't a very difficult task, Miss Carney," I replied, with becoming modesty. "You see, being on the spot, as I was, I could direct the work to so much better advantage, and—"

"Why! were you there yourself?" she exclaimed in amazement; and then, turning her face away, a faint flush, scarcely visible at first, crept slowly up from her cheeks until it was lost under the little ringlets of soft brown hair that nestled about her ears and forehead.

My heart seemed to rise in my throat for an instant, and then began to beat so violently that its throbbings became somewhat audible as I said, somewhat sheepishly:

"Yes, I was there all the time. I went expecting to stay only a day or so, but there were so many things to be attended to that I stayed on and let the time go to my vacation."

"It couldn't have been much of a vacation," she exclaimed, regarding her composure in an instant, "and I don't intend that you shall be treated so shabbily. Mrs. Randolph, won't you please ask Mr. Ware to visit us at Carney-Croft for a fortnight after we get settled? If he makes any excuses I will order him to come in his professional capacity. You see, you can't escape us if you would," she laughed, and the matter was settled.

"When we reached the hotel Miss Carney insisted on my remaining to luncheon, explaining that she wished to talk over some business matters with me in the afternoon."

It was a merry quartette that assembled around the table in the dining-room of Miss Carney's apartments, and my memory naturally carried me back to my first luncheon with her, over three years before. The anxious, tearful expression of the past had given way to a countenance beaming with vivacity, health and peace with all the world, and her soft, ruddy complexion, heightened by the voyage across the Atlantic, enhanced, if such a thing were possible, the glorious beauty of her face.

We chattered in a delightfully unconventional way until luncheon was over and then Mrs. Randolph tactfully left us to ourselves to discuss business matters in the sitting-room, while Miss Weston, who was the very antithesis of Miss Carney by reason of her ill health and frail constitution, retired for her usual afternoon nap.

The moment we were alone Miss Carney's levity and frivolity left her, and, motioning me to a seat by her side, she plunged at once into the consideration of a mass of details concerning Carney-Croft and its affairs. Suddenly she surprised me by asking pointedly:

"Why did you remain at Carney-Croft longer than you had first intended? Was it solely to superintend the opening of the house or was it for some other reason?"

This question, put to me so ingeniously, could be answered only with the utmost frankness, and I said earnestly: "There was another reason, Miss Carney, and an important one."

Then I told her the whole story, as far as its practical features were concerned, but avoided, as much as possible, the recital of any unnecessary details.

"So you think this will all be stopped, now that you know who the ring-leaders are?" she asked, anxiously.

"I am sure that it will," I replied, more positively than my true feelings warranted. "There has been no more of it since we learned who wrote the notes and it looks as if Jenks and this Bruce woman were going to keep the affair entirely to themselves. Besides, the new house the widow has is much better than the old one, and she has considerably more land than before. She ought to be perfectly satisfied with her present situation and stop her performances, if only for her own sake."

"But about their getting in and out of the house whenever they want to?" queried Miss Carney. "Don't you think it is rather dangerous to have any such mysteriously hidden entrance entirely unknown to us? Might they not get in again, while we are there, and take things or do something of that sort?"

"Oh, no!" I replied, reassuringly. "You may be certain they won't do that. If they had wanted to steal they'd have done it long ago, when they had the place to themselves. I think they had a key that opened one of the doors, and I've had new locks put all over the house. They couldn't get in now if they tried."

"What was said in the notes?" asked Miss Carney. "I wish you had saved them. I should have enjoyed seeing them, I know."

"Oh, nothing of any consequence," I replied, hastily. "Just a few words warning me not to allow you to return and expressed in regulation penny-dreadful style. The whole thing was crudely and awkwardly done and I am sure we have heard the last of it."

"I hope you have," she rejoined, earnestly. "I am very fond of Carney-Croft, and, while I don't believe in ghosts, and shouldn't fear them if I did, I cannot say that I fancy the idea of having human prowlers about the place. I know that we can get rid of them sooner or later, but I trust they won't cause us any annoyance at all."

"I said what I could to reassure her, and, as I was going away, she offered her hand and held mine while she said softly:

"You have been very thoughtful of my interests and happiness, Mr. Ware, and I appreciate it more than I can tell you."

The pressure of her fingers tightened for an instant and made the blood course through my veins until my whole body tingled and my breath seemed to catch in my throat. I mumbled a commonplace reply, and pulled myself together with an effort in order to avoid making my exit like a boy in his teens.

Before I reached my office, however, I had convinced myself that Miss Carney's behavior was due only to her simple, unaffected, generosity or disposition, coupled with her delight at returning home, and that I was no more than a concealed ass in attaching any other significance to it.

CHAPTER XV.

A New Victim.

"Good morning, Mr. Ware!" exclaimed Miss Carney, as I made a somewhat tardy appearance at the breakfast table not long after my arrival at Carney-Croft in acceptance of Mrs. Randolph's invitation. "What report has the bold Nimrod to-day? Are we to have game for dinner to-morrow, sir?"

"Not so much as the report of a gun," I replied, as I dropped into my seat. "I only flushed one bird and he flew straight into foliage so dense that I couldn't get a ghost of a sight on him."

"We don't mind, so long as we don't get a sight of a ghost some dark night, do we, Nan?" laughed Miss Carney. "Besides, I've ordered some partridges from town and we won't be disappointed in our dinner, either! You should be very grateful to me for saving the day for you, sir!"

"You might save my reputation, too, if you would only remark casually, as the game is served, that I have been out shooting every morning since I came," I suggested with a smile. "I believe you are to have guests to-morrow."

"Yes," she returned with provoking gravity, "but it's to be the rector and his wife. I would do a great deal for

CHICKEN A FAVORITE DISH.

Most Appetizing Dainty When Cooked En Casserole.

The charm of cooking en casserole is in the delicious blending of flavors that it accomplishes. And one can have meat as well as vegetables, all from the same dish and with equally good flavor. Perhaps the most popular casserole dish is chicken. To prepare this the chicken should be washed and wiped very carefully and thoroughly, then buttered all over and dipped in flour. The chicken is then laid in the bottom of a good sized casserole and two cups of soup stock are added. If vegetables are desired with it a dozen small onions are put in whole, with a couple of large potatoes cut into about two dozen small balls, one carrot cut into fancy shapes, two handfuls of string beans, two stalks of celery, a clove of garlic, whole, salt and pepper, a sprig of parsley and one turnip cut into fancy shapes. All these are laid around the chicken and the casserole is then put in the oven to stay for an hour and a quarter. If the vegetables are young and fresh then it is best to put them in after the chicken has cooked for 20 minutes. But if they are old then they can be started when the chicken is, and both will become tender and done at the same time.

HOW TO MAKE CHICKEN MOLD.

Tasty Supper Dish That Is Something of a Novelty.

This is a tasty supper dish that may be made from a fowl that is too old for cooking in the ordinary way. After it is plucked and drawn wash the fowl and put it into an enameled saucepan with cold water to cover; add a small onion, two cloves and four peppercorns and one slice of lean ham; place over a moderate fire and simmer gently until the meat falls from the bone. When about half done, add a teaspoonful of salt. When done take the meat from the bones and cut into small pieces not over one-half inch square; put the bones and skin back into the saucepan and boil until the liquor is reduced to one and a half pints, then strain and season to taste. Mix with this the chicken, pour the whole into a mold and stand it in a cold place over night. When hard and cold, turn out of the mold, garnish with parsley and serve.

Chow-Chow.

Take a half pound of ground mustard, gradually mix with it a little vinegar taken from two measured quarts. Heat the larger quantity of vinegar; when boiling stir in the mixed mustard and simmer for five minutes. In the meantime peel one quart of small white onions, and boil in salted water until half done. Also half cook one quart of tiny lima beans, one quart of sweet corn scraped from the cob, two quarts of small string beans. Shred one head of cabbage, slice one dozen peeled cucumbers, salt both, let stand an hour, then drain. Add with the partly cooked drained vegetables to the prepared vinegar. Stir in one-quarter of a pound of white mustard seed and eight green peppers chopped fine. Boil all for five minutes.

How to Make a Furniture Polish.

To make a furniture polish use one ounce of brown beeswax, one-half ounce of white wax, one-half ounce of castile soap, one-half pint of turpentine and one-half pint of water. Shred the brown and white wax into a jar (a two-pound jar will do), add the turpentine and let it stand on the stove until dissolved. Shred the soap and let it boil in the water until quite dissolved. Allow to cool, then pour into the jar and stir all the ingredients together. When cold, it will be a thick cream and must be kept airtight. For old furniture this produces a deep, glowing polish quite different from any other, and it does not finger mark.

Tomato Rounds with Dressing.

Cut large, ripe tomatoes into round slices. Dust with pepper and salt. Dredge on both sides with flour. Put a large piece of butter in a frying pan with two bay leaves and a soup bunch. When the butter is hot, put in the tomatoes, being careful not to break them; turn on both sides; take out as soon as cooked and put on a hot platter. Add half a cupful of cream in the same pan and cook a few minutes. Put in two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley, season with salt and pepper, and pour over the tomatoes. Remove the bay leaves and soup bunch before serving. It is nice for luncheon or Sunday night tea.

Egg Sauce.

So many big fish are caught and so many fish baked that a good egg sauce is to be cherished in the cook book. The egg sauce may be used with fish or fowl. Put two ounces of butter in a saucepan, and, when melted, add two tablespoonfuls of flour and blend smoothly. When thoroughly mixed, add two coffee cupsful of boiling water, and continue to stir rapidly until the mixture has thickened satisfactorily. Add another two ounces of butter, and, when that, too, has melted, salt and pepper to taste. Just before removing from the fire add three finely chopped hard-boiled eggs.

School Children's Luncheon.

Rebake to a crisp brown enough stale bread to fill a cup measure when cut into squares. Heat three cups of milk to the scalding point (not boiling), add a large spoonful of butter, one of sugar, and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Pour over the squares of toast in tureen. Cover for a few minutes, then serve in cereal dishes.

SOCIETY SHOCKED AT WHEATON.

Young Married Woman Dressed as Jockey Wins Race Over Negro Rider.

Wheaton.—From the moment when they saw her swing into the saddle and dash boldly into the ring for the running race, Ellen Rasmussen Tuttle was the sensation at the Wheaton fair.

There was an "ah-h" of appreciation from the men, a dainty but distinct shrug from the women, and then everyone settled down to watch eagerly the slender, boyish figure astride the chestnut horse, in the most daring costume yet seen at a gathering of Chicago's fashionable society.

"It may be all correct in cut," murmured one, "but—"

"And she rides against a negro jockey."

"I think it is really dreadful!" There was a pistol shot, and they were off with the white figure of the woman in the lead, leaning low over her horse. After that everybody lost his head, for they all came to their feet to watch the three spinning figures as they circled the course on the far side. Mrs. Tuttle led the race all around the course and the competition was never great even at the quarters.

But it was the finish that drew the cheers. Mrs. Tuttle came down the stretch leaning far over the neck of her horse in true Tod Sloan fashion, her fair cheek fairly hugging its mane as she whistled to it, at all times sparing the whip. She was standing in the stirrups and her competitors were behind.

"Miss—Mrs. Rasmussen wins. Time —1:51!" the judge announced.

Magill Case Transferred.

Clinton.—Circuit Clerk Harold sent to the circuit clerk at Decatur the full transcript in the famous Magill proceedings. This is the formal way of transmitting the case from DeWitt county to Macon county.

"There Are So Many Things I Want to Ask."

you, as you know, but in such highly moral company you are asking too much!"

"Speaking of ghosts, Mr. Ware," said Miss Weston, whose assumption of interest and good spirits was scarcely in keeping with her wanly glistening eyes and the pale, emaciated, hectic expression of her face, "you seem to have these Carney-Croft wraiths most decidedly under your control. You have laid them, in a word, haven't you?"

"There certainly have been no uncanny doings since we've been here," cried Miss Carney in a bantering tone. "I don't really believe that Mr. Ware ever laid a ghost in his life, my dear. He has just been trying to tease us all the time!"

"I think Dr. MacArde had more to do with it than I," I replied gravely. "He engineered the whole campaign against them and is entitled to all the credit of putting an end to their performances."

"Did you say that a woman was the leading spirit in all this mysterious affair?" asked Miss Weston, with interest.

"Yes," I returned, "and a most mild-mannered woman, too. You never would imagine that she could be capable of originating such a startling plot. It really was quite exciting while it lasted."

"I wonder if I saw her the other day," continued Miss Weston. "Was it the gentle-faced, motherly old soul who lives in the new house over by the orchard?"

"The very one," I replied, laughing. "And this same motherly old soul, as you call her, can be as self-contained and tragic as you please when occasion requires. She ought to be on the stage, I assure you."

"Why, what did she do that was so tragic?" she exclaimed in a breath, and Miss Carney continued, reprovingly: "You couldn't have told us the whole story, I'm sure. Please give us the tragic part of it at once, Mr. Ware."

WHERE HISTORY BECKONS.

Exhibit of Relics at the Jamestown Exposition is Highly Interesting.

With the completion of the deeproof History building at the Jamestown exposition and the installation of the priceless exhibits representing more than a dozen states of the Union and several of the leading historical societies of the country, the Tercentennial has added to its already extensive list of exhibits the most interesting and valuable collections of a historical nature that have ever been presented.

The exhibit in general, which includes collections from the Colonial Dames of America, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Episcopal church and the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Vermont, New Jersey, North Carolina, Georgia, Ohio, Delaware, New York, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Massachusetts, is replete with relics, souvenirs and antiques of American history from its very earliest stages and is in itself an education in our national history.

The Pennsylvania state historical exhibit is perhaps the most conspicuous and handsome collection in the History building, although every display has its own special features. In this exhibit the history of the state of Pennsylvania is depicted by a series of beautiful oil paintings from its settlement on through the Revolution, all arranged in chronological order, including some famous old Dutch portraits and a recent likeness of ex-Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker, through whose efforts the exhibit was made possible. A large full length portrait of William Penn is the center of a handsome portrait collection. A set of lay figures dressed in the various costumes of the different religious sects that have existed in the state from time to time is another feature.

The Colonial Dames' historic exhibit is also one of the most interesting and valuable in the building. The collection has many famous portraits, colonial relics and documents. A portrait of Alexander Spotswood and two paintings by Gilbert Stuart are the most noted in the collection. The exhibit includes a wonderful display of old colonial silverware and other relics, among which is a silver crown worn by the queen of the Pamunkey Indians, presented to her by King Charles II. of England. The portraits of the Calvert family, famous in Maryland history, are also in this collection, loaned by Mrs. William Reed of Baltimore.

The Daughters of the American Revolution exhibit includes a notable collection of documents and relics, prominent among the latter being a collection of Revolutionary dolls.

The Episcopal church exhibit is most interesting, consisting of a collection of rare old silver services from the historical churches of the country.

The Virginia state historical exhibit, installed under the auspices of the state library and the Virginia Historical society, is in charge of William C. Torrence, bibliographer of the state library of Richmond. This exhibit is made up largely of state documents, dating from the earliest period of Virginia history up to a recent date, including some of the rare old documents of the house of burgesses and some of the most valuable state papers relative to the war of the rebellion.

North and South Carolina have installed most creditable exhibits in the History building at the exposition, the most interesting feature of the former being an original portrait of Theodosia Burr, the beautiful daughter of Aaron Burr.

The feature of the New Jersey state historical exhibit is the display of firearms, demonstrating the development along that line of manufacture in the state of New Jersey, from the old Revolutionary flintlock to the present modern Springfield magazine rifle.

A reproduction in miniature of the Blennerhassett mansion, famous in history as the birthplace of the Burr-Blennerhassett conspiracy, is the feature of the West Virginia exhibit.

Last, but not least, in the History building, is the exhibit of the state of Ohio, which is perhaps the most original historical collection ever presented at any exposition. This exhibit, installed by the Archaeological and Historical Society of Ohio, is a complete display of relics and methods of burial of the mound builders, who in prehistoric times inhabited such a large area throughout the middle west and particularly in that section of the country which is now Ohio. There is a reproduction in miniature of one of the famous mounds of the state, showing a cross section, view. The mound, 100 feet in breadth and twenty feet in height, was erected by the mound builders as a place for the cremation of their dead. The miniature is so accurate in every detail that many of the curious methods of these people of a practically unknown period are shown. A prehistoric pearl necklace, worth $10,000, is one of a collection of many most interesting trinkets and relics included in the Ohio exhibit.

Fair is Best of All.

"The Jamestown exposition, of all the expositions I have seen, pleases me most. Apart from the historic significance, which of course it has, and apart from the historic setting given it by Hampton Roads, on which it is situated, I consider the Tercentennial to be ahead of all others in every way."

In the foregoing is the commendation given by Hon. Nathaniel Holderby of Carmi, Ill., member of the Illinois Tercentennial commission and one of the most prominent citizens of southern Illinois. Mr. Holderby was at the exposition Aug. 10.

POCAHONTAS' DESCENDANTS.

The Famous Bolling Family—Deaf and Blind Exhibit.

Among the many interesting exhibits in Social Economy hall at the Jamestown exposition is the group of historical pictures from the Virginia school for the deaf and blind at Staunton, Va. The group includes the likenesses of the members of the famous Bolling family and represents the first attempt in America at educating the deaf. There are pictures of John and Thomas Bolling, Jr., sixth in direct line of descent from Pocahontas, the daughter of Powhatan. Both were deaf and were sent by their father, Major Thomas Bolling, in 1775, to the Braidwood school at Edinburgh, Scotland. Of the latter the Richmond Enquirer of Feb. 18, 1830, in an obituary notice, says of Thomas Bolling, Jr.: "Placed at an early age under the tuition of the celebrated Braidwood of Edinburgh, his naturally fine understanding was rapidly developed. He read with pleasure, composed and wrote in a peculiar yet clear and graphic style. Polished and graceful in manner, he was the admiration and wonder of strangers and the delight of an extensive connection and friends."

His hearing brother, Colonel William Bolling, in a letter dated Dec. 30, 1841, thus alludes to his brother's speech: "Thomas' acquirements were most extraordinary. His articulation was so perfect that his family, his friends and the servants understood him in conversation or in reading aloud as well as they could any person, and he possessed the faculty of modulating his voice from a low whisper to a loud call."

Another picture is that of Colonel William, who had two children who were deaf, and he employed a Mr. Braidwood, grandson of the founder of the Edinburgh school, to come to America to instruct the two children at Bolling hall, Goochland county, Va. This was in 1812, and these two children of William Bolling were the first deaf persons to be educated in America.

Yacht Races on Illinois Day.

The great international yacht races in competition for cups offered by King Edward, President Roosevelt, Sir Thomas Lipton and the Jamestown exposition will be in full swing on Sept. 14, when the Illinois clans gather on the heaths of the mother state at the Tercentennial. Any one of these cup races would ordinarily attract the attention of the world, and with four great events, embracing all classes of boats, a programme of unparalleled magnificence has been produced. The most intense interest has been aroused all over the country, and the entries promise to excel anything of the kind ever before known. The races will occur in Hampton Roads, directly in front of the exposition grounds, and will continue for three weeks or

MANY ATTRACTIONS THERE.

Jamestown Tercentennial Offers Much to the Intelligent Visitor.

While Illinois visitors to the Jamestown Tercentennial no doubt will pay much attention to the magnificent exhibit the state has in the various buildings, some of the time will certainly be devoted to the amusement and spectacular features with which this great exposition abounds. The scenes of the War Path during the afternoons and evenings are enlivening and enchanting in the extreme. All nationalities jostle each other in good natured carnival spirit, while the familiar yet ever strange music lends a foreign aspect to the surroundings.

But the War Path is not all. There are balloons in the aeronautical course in which the visitor may soar among the clouds and take in the most magnificent view of half a hundred nesting cities, broad rivers widening and deepening into roads and harbors, the great bay of the Chesapeake and the long line of white foam betokening the restless tide of old ocean. Descending, the visitor may gaze in admiration and wonder at the myriads of vessels of every kind which ply hither and thither among the battleships in Hampton Roads.

Then there are the military parades and drills of thousands of soldiers from the national guard of the several states and from the regular army in the infantry, artillery and cavalry branches to be seen daily on Lee's Parade. Music by the Imperial band of the City of Mexico, military and other bands; recitals and concerts by famous musicians; airship flights, fireworks, Indian parades, grand illuminations of buildings, fountains, grounds and ships of the harbor and of the cities which cluster along its borders, all produce a scene of splendor such as could never be forgotten.

JAMESTOWN POULTRY SHOW.

Biggest Exhibition of the Kind Ever Held in America.

What promises to be the biggest and most successful poultry show ever held in the United States will be opened at the Jamestown exposition Oct. 22 and last ten days. The show will be held in one of the largest buildings at the exposition and one that is admirably adapted to the purpose. It will contain all modern conveniences and appliances, so that no fancier need fear that his birds will not receive the best possible attention.

A winning at Jamestown will mean the best on the continent, and realizing this significant fact, poultry fanciers and breeders all over the United States, Mexico and Canada are preparing to send their birds to this show.

In addition to the regular cash prizes, which will be of unusual value, several handsome silver cups have been given, among them the $100 Corno cup presented by the Corno mills of East St. Louis, Ill., which will be awarded to the exhibitor of the best and largest display of any one breed of birds.

The Jamestown show will be the first big contest in which birds from the north, south, east and west will come together in large numbers, and the results will necessarily be watched with the greatest interest by breeders all over the country.

As in all shows of the sort, the entries will be by no means confined to live exhibits. A number of the larger poultry journals will have booths in the building, while manufacturers of poultry foods and dealers in all appliances incident to "egg culture" will be prominently represented.

The management has been placed in charge of John A. Murkin, Jr., of Nashville, Tenn., who has put himself in communication with the larger poultry people in the country, all of whom have expressed themselves as enthusiastic about the show.

The entry fees will be as follows: (1) Single specimen cocks, hens, cockerels and pullets, $1 each; (2) breeding pens, one male and four females, to be made up of young and old birds, or both, $3 each.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Wall Street paper has announced that "Money is easier." We have noticed that with our own money. It seems easier for other people to separate us from it.

"Secretary Cortelyou is distributing the public funds among the national banks," says an exchange. Wish we could give a good imitation of a national bank when the Secretary passes our way.

The Jamestown Exposition is now "completed and prominent men from all parts of the country are flocking there. Many of the wealthy Americans who spent the early part of the summer in Europe have come back and are now going to the Exposition.

All of the would-be presidential candidates are finding politicians to give interviews to the press declaring that they will be the candidate of the next national convention, but a majority of political prophets seem to have decided that Secretary Taft will be the Republican and Wm. J. Bryan the Democratic nominee.

There are many indications that the Philippine tariff will constitute the most important issue in the coming session of Congress. This measure passed the House last session, but was killed in a Senate committee. The President is an earnest advocate of the measure, as are Secretary Taft, Representative John Dalzell, Speaker Cannon and other influential Republicans.

A good many people are indulging in much speculation as to the future of Theodore Roosevelt after he leaves the White House. Some suggest that he be made Governor of the Philippines, other that he become president of Harvard, others that he become manager of a big metropolitan newspaper, and so on. But all these seem to overlook the fact that the President has very clearly indicated to his friends, at least, that he knows precisely what he wants to do, and that is to come to the Senate as Senator from New York. There is some question as to whether Mr. Roosevelt can achieve his ambition, and some of the political wisecracks of the Empire State say he cannot, but once it becomes known among the rank and file of New York Republicans that such is the President's ambition, accurate prognostication will be easier. Senator Platt's term in the Senate expires on the same day that President Roosevelt leaves the White House, and it would be the occasion of the utmost gratification to Mr. Roosevelt if he could drive down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol and take the oath of office as a Senator without a moment's interim in his public career.

The recent attack on Japanese in British Columbia constitutes an interesting event to lookers on in the United States. There is even more reason why British subjects should treat the Japanese with consideration than should American citizens, for Japan and Great Britain are allies, having entered into an offensive and defensive alliance. What the effect on Japan of the recent riots will be cannot be foreseen, but it is difficult not to regard the situation with some degree of complacency, especially as the British press was singularly frank in its criticism of this government when the San Francisco riots occurred. Some of the British newspaper went so far as to speak slightly of a government which could not control its own states, and now they have the opportunity to contemplate their own government unable to control its own colonies. In British Columbia the cause of the trouble is the same as in California, fear of the competition of Japanese labor. If the British should be compelled to sanction the adoption by Canada and British Columbia of a Japanese exclusion law, the home government and the Japanese government would, perhaps, realize that the United States had done the best it could, and been as friendly to Japan as circumstances would permit, in the face of a difficult situation.

The silly talk of the visit of the Atlantic naval fleet to the Pacific constituting a menace and an affront to Japan is pretty effectually set at rest by Ambassador Aoki's announcement that if the fleet, on its return trip, will visit Japan it will go far to cement the friendly relations of the two nations. No plans have been made for the return of the fleet as yet, but there is food for thought in the Ambassador's suggestion. The jingo party in Japan is the minority party which has sought to utilize false stories of the treatment of Japanese in the United States to make trouble for the party in power. The men who govern Japan have never entertained any but the most friendly relations toward the United States. The people, some of them at least, have been suffering from insufferable conceit because of their victory over Russia, and it has made them too ready to pick a quarrel. These jingoes are the same people who insisted that the peace of Portsmouth was a disgraceful surrender on the part of the Japanese, for they were wholly ignorant of the fact that the Japanese treasury was empty and that Japan could not have fought another two months. They have not yet realized the predicament of their government nor do they appreciate the extent of Japan's present indebtedness. To such people as these the sight of the United States' great naval fleet might prove a most salutary lesson, and would doubtless go far toward assisting the governing body in its counsels of moderation and peace.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained however by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing there are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitter on hand. Cures blood poison too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. 50c.

Chat.

A gentleman once remarked to Henry, Prince of Prussia, that one rarely found genius, wit, memory and judgment united in the same person. "Surely, there is nothing astonishing in this," replied the prince. "Genius takes its daring flight toward heaven—he is the eagle. Wit moves along by fits and starts—he is the grasshopper. Memory marches backwards—he is the crab. Judgment drags along slowly—he is the tortoise. How can you expect all these animals to act in unison?"

Pain anywhere, pain in the head, painful periods, neuralgia, toothache, all pains can be promptly stopped by a thoroughly safe little pink candy tablet known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets. Pain simply means congestion—undue blood pressure at the point where pain exists. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets quickly equalize this unnatural blood pressure, and pain immediately departs. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., and get a free trial package. Large box 25c. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Not Complimentary to Her Sex. "Women as a sex are poor things," said Lady Wolseley recently, and she declared that they were created out of the leavings and that woman was made of scraps left after the creation of man and moreover she is two parts cat and one part angel.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.
Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Why He Lost Out.
A condemned murderer appealed for clemency in order that he might have time to get religion. "I had it last year," he explained, "but I was so mixed up with my lawyers that I lost it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Stomach troubles, heart and kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the stomach, etc. A weak stomach, causing dyspepsia, a weak heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak stomach nerves or weak heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth his simple trial. Sold by J. H. Swan.

There are a great many people who have slight attacks of indigestion and dyspepsia nearly all the time. The food may satisfy the appetite but it fails to nourish the body simply because the stomach is not in fit condition to do the work it is supposed to do. It can't digest the food you eat. The stomach should be given help. You ought take something that will do the work your stomach can't do. Kodol for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids, digests the food itself and gives strength and health to the stomach. Pleasant to take. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Even Nature Needs Advertising.
It is worth while to note the stern fact that even the wonders of creation do not actually attract any special attention unless some advertising man gets busy. The railroads really make Niagara falls go, the Philistine truly says. They are advertising it continually as a continuous performance and filling people with a desire to go there, then transporting them for a consideration.

The wedding will take place at the home of Miss Barren's parents at Edgewater in the month of June 1908 at which time Mr. Welch will have completed his course at the Northwestern University. Both young people devote much of their time to juvenile court work in Chicago.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism. Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pang of this deplorable disease.
In Germany—a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made. A perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I can surely cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. ## 24 PERISH IN WRECK

TERRIBLE COLLISION OCCURS
NEAR CANAAN STATION, VT.

THE INJURED NUMBER 27

Passenger Trains on the Boston & Maine Crash Together—Confusion of Orders Blamed for the Disaster.

White River Junction, Vt.—A fearful head-on collision between the south-bound Quebec express and a north-bound freight train on the Concord division of the Boston & Maine railroad occurred four miles north of Canaan Station early Sunday, due to a mistake in train dispatcher's orders, and from a demolished passenger coach there were taken out 24 dead and dying and 27 other passengers, most of them seriously wounded.

Nearly all those who were in the death car were returning from a fair at Sherbrooke, Quebec, 60 miles north.

The conductor of the freight train was given to understand that he had plenty of time to reach a siding by the night operator at Canaan Station, receiving, according to the superintendent of the division, a copy of a telegraph order from the train dispatcher at Concord which confused the train numbers 30 and 34.

The wreck occurred just after the express had rounded into a straight stretch of track, but owing to the early morning mist neither engineer saw the other's headlight until it was too late.

Crowded Car Telescoped.
The baggage car in the rear was hurled back into the passenger coach like a great ram and tore it asunder from end to end. The ill-fated passenger coach was crowded with more than 50 people. Shortly before the accident a few of the men had gone back into the smoking car in the rear, leaving the women to get a little sleep in the straight seats. One of those who escaped said that as the train was rounding a curve some one in the front of the car began to sing, so that nearly every one was awake when the crash came. Those who were in the other cars hurried to the demolished passenger coach, where groans, cries and shrieks were rending the air.

Fortunately, with the engines off to one side, the wreckage did not take fire. The train hands, ably seconded by the passengers from the sleeping cars, groped their way among the ruins and began the work of rescue. Wounds were hastily bound up and cuts staunchly by strips of bedding from the sleepers. The little band worked diligently in the dawning light before the doctors came.

The neighborhood is a sparsely settled one, but the few farmers were aroused and lent every aid to the work of rescue. In the meantime word had been dispatched to this place and to Concord and Hanover and within an hour a large force of physicians was on their way to the wreck.

LUSITANIA DEFEATS SISTER.

Makes Trip from Queenstown to New York in Five Days.

New York.—A new steamship record between a European port and New York has been made by the Cunard line's new giant turbine ship, the Lusitania, which arrived here Friday.

The Lusitania left Queenstown, the nearest transatlantic port to New York, at 12:10 p. m. Sunday.

The log of the Lusitania gives her time of passage as five days and fifty-four minutes, and her time of arrival off the Sandy Hook lightship as 8:05 a. m. Her average speed, according to her log, was 23.01 knots per hour, and the day's runs were five miles, 556, 575, 570, 593, and 483 to the lightship, a total distance of 2,782 miles.

The Lusitania's time, according to the log, is six hours and twenty-nine minutes better than the previous Queenstown-New York record of five days and seven hours and twenty-three minutes, held by the Lucania of the same line.

While the Lusitania has made a new record for the time a passenger is actually on board ship, she has not beaten the average speed per hour recorded. The Kaiser Wilhelm II. has made an average of 23.58 knots per hour from New York to Plymouth and the Deutschland has a record of 23.51 knots per hour average to Plymouth.

WILL CLOSE COPPER MINES

AMALGAMATED SOON WILL SHUT DOWN AT BUTTE, MONT.

Deadlock as to Sales Has Resulted in Tremendous Over-Production—10,000 Men Will Lose Jobs.

New York.—A crisis in the copper situation, due to a deadlock between the producer and the consumer, has resulted in a tremendous over-production of the metal, and the Amalgamated Copper company, the largest producer of copper in this country, will soon shut down its mines in and about Butte, Mont.

News of the intended suspension of operations there was made known Thursday by an interest closely identified with the company. Amalgamated stock fell over four points on the stock exchange when the news became known, and the shares of the company sold down to $60.25, which is 61 points under the high record price of the year. It is said that the suspension at the Butte mines will throw 10,000 men out of work. The Amalgamated company has had difficulty in obtaining an adequate supply of fuel at Butte and this is said to be a contributing cause for the shutdown.

The Amalgamated Copper company, along with other copper companies, has been piling up a large surplus of copper for several months, and it is authoritatively stated that there is a surplus of 250,000,000 pounds of refined copper in the United States. The present situation has developed from the seeming inability of the producer and consumer to reach a price for the metal that would prove satisfactory. The selling price of copper has been steadily reduced in the copper markets of the world, but the consumer has steadfastly declined to purchase except when needs were pressing.

The official price for copper has been lowered from 25 cents to 18 cents a pound by the United Metals Selling company. Copper producers on the metal exchange in their efforts to tempt the buyer have gradually cut the price of copper to 15¢, for electrolytic, which figure was reached Thursday. As a consequence of this acute situation copper stocks have accumulated rapidly. The production of refined copper in September, it was stated Thursday, will be 6,000,000 pounds less than last month. There were reports in the financial district that certain banks have declined to carry any more copper metal in their loans.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT ENDS.

Civil War Veterans Install Officers and Adjourn Until 1908.

Saratoga, N. Y.—Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic who have been attending the forty-first annual encampment of the organization concluded their business Friday and adjourned until 1908.

Installation of the officers elected Thursday, adoption of several recommendations from the committee on resolutions and Commander-in-Chief Burton's announcement of appointive officers took up the time of the veterans.

The officers were installed by Robert B. Beath, of Philadelphia, past commander-in-chief. The encampment adopted the report of the committee on resolutions which recommended legislation by congress authorizing the erection of a soldiers' hospital in the vicinity of the Gulf of Mexico; increasing widows' pensions to $12 a month; providing some suitable memorial for the soldiers and sailors of the union army who were in the south when the war began and did not join the southern forces, and directing that widows of soldiers buried in the national cemeteries may be buried beside their husbands. These recommendations will be incorporated in bills to be presented to congress.

Stowitt, Buffalo, inspector general; L. L. Collins, Minneapolis, Minn., judge advocate general; J. Henry Heacock, Philadelphia, assistant general and custodian of records; J. ## THE ABSORBING ISSUE!

WELLMAN EXPEDITION FAILS

ARCTIC EXPLORER'S WARSHIP
LANDS ON A GLACIER.

Encountered a Severe Storm and Effort to Reach Pole Abandoned for This Year.

Tromsø, Norway.—Walter Wellman and his party, composing the Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald polar expedition, arrived here Thursday evening on the steamer Frithjof from Spitzbergen.

Mr. Wellman says the airship America left her shed September 2 and made an ascent in bad weather, but she proved so strong and behaved so well that a start north was immediately made. The airship, however, encountered a storm, was driven back and landed on top of a glacier. Everything was saved.

When the airship left the shed it was anchored to a steamer, the Express, which helped to tow it to Vogel Bay Island, two miles northward to Walter Wellman.

Camp Wellman. Resenberg and Vandman occupied the car. The motor was found to work splendidly and, when it was started, drove the America ahead of the steamer. It was found that the airship answered her bell well.

Off Vogel Bay Island the America was freed from her anchor ropes, but an increasing gale and a driving snowstorm beat her backward over the mainland of Spitzbergen. Seeing the hopelessness of attempting to battle with the gale the valves were opened and the balloon quickly descended on a glacier.

The occupants of the car, secured the balloon. A rescue party from the steamer reached the glacier an hour and a half later and had considerable difficulty in saving the airship. The balloon portion had to be cut in two and the car was taken to pieces in order to enable the rescuers to transport it over the ice hills and fissures to the sea.

St. Paul, Minn.—General Manager Elliott of the Great Northern Express company, announced Thursday that the Great Northern Oriental limited train No. 1, which left St. Paul Tuesday morning, was held up by two masked men six or seven miles west of Rexford, Mont., at an early hour Thursday morning. The robbers crawled over the tender and at the point of their guns commanded the engineer to stop the train.

Keeping up a fusillade of shots to terrify the passengers, the bandits blew open the express safe and, finding it empty, took a quantity of registered mail and escaped. The company offers $10,000 reward for their arrest and conviction.

RICH YOUNG MAN IS KILLED.

One foot of the rider was held fast in the stirrup, and he was dragged for some distance and kicked into insensibility. Dr. Glennon, of the public health and marine hospital service, who came along in an automobile immediately after the accident, picked up the prostrate man and started for a hospital, but Mr. Winship lived only a few moments. The young man had just come into a large inheritance.

The large crowd in attendance expressed strong disfavor for the act, but the speedy arrival of policemen prevented trouble.

ROGERS IS STRICKEN

STANDARD OIL MAGNATE HAS
BAD PARALYTIC ATTACK.

DUE TO BUSINESS WORRY

His Retirement from Active Life Probable—Relatives Reveal His Condition in Boston Law Court.

New York.—Information came from a sound source Monday that H. H. Rogers has suffered a stroke of paralysis. The president of the Amalgamated Copper company has been reported "ill" for about a fortnight, following his recent return from Europe, where he went some months ago for his health.

But despite the trip abroad and the temporary retirement from all business affairs, the Rockefeller chieftain grew worse, an illness which culminated in the stroke of helplessness.

It is said that the magnate has been generally incommunicado for a fortnight, only his near relatives and intimate friends being permitted to his bedside. One of these in a Boston court Monday afternoon confirmed the story, and gave details of the financier's breakdown.

The recent order to close the Montana mines of the Amalgamated Copper company is supposed to have been given by William G. Rockefeller, who will take the position formerly occupied by Rogers as the field general of the Standard Oil party.

Even should Rogers recover, it is believed that he will not return to his place in the directorates of the various corporations with which he has been identified.

The decisions against the Standard Oil company and the failure of the Rockefellers to stem the tremendous slumps in their companies are supposed to have been contributory causes to Rogers' condition.

Boston.—Upon the evidence of members of the family of Henry H. Rogers and the family physician that Mr. Rogers suffered a stroke last July, and has since been unable to transact any business, Judge Hammond, in the supreme court, Monday announced that it would be cruel to compel his attendance in court, and dismissed a motion to that effect.

The condition of Mr. Rogers was disclosed in the course of a hearing on a motion to show that he was capable of attending the trial of a suit against him for $50,000,000 brought by C. M. Raymond, of Somerville, for alleged conversion of certain royalties in connection with the production of petroleum.

BOAT UPSETS; TWO DROWN.

Young Couple Perish in Delaware River, Three Others Escaping.

Philadelphia.—Miss Ada Smith, aged 19 years, of this city, and George Denver, aged 23 years, of Westville, N. J., were drowned, and Mrs. Ray Springer and her two children, of Billingsport, N. J., narrowly escaped drowning in the Delaware river off that place Monday by the overturning of a small boat in which they were rowing.

Miss Smith and Denver were visiting the Springer home and before leaving they went for a row on the river in a 12-foot rowboat. When in midstream the heavily laden craft was struck by a swell and capsized.

Transport Five Days in a Typhoon.

San Francisco.—In the grasp of a terrific typhoon, which raged unceasingly for five days and nights, the United States army transport Sherman, which arrived here Monday, received a terrible buffeting during the voyage from Nagasaki. Shortly after leaving the latter port the vessel ran into the tail end of a typhoon and was tossed about like a cork. Heavy seas swept over the Sherman's bow, and but small progress was made during the four days which followed.

Czar's Yacht Was Blown Up.

London.—Facts in confirmation of the reported attempt to assassinate Czar Nicholas of Russia by blowing up his private yacht were received Monday. It is learned that instead of the royal yacht Standart accidentally going aground off the shore of Finland, she was stove in by the explosion of a floating dynamite mine. Her commander ran her ashore to save the lives of the imperial family on board. The substantiation of the report was received by way of Copenhagen in a private message from St. Petersburg.

HERITAGE OF CIVIL WAR.

Thousands of Soldiers Contracted Chronic Kidney Trouble While in the Service.

The experience of Capt. John L. Ely, of Co. E, 17th Ohio, now living at 500 East Second street, Newton, Kansas, will interest the thousands of veterans who came back from the Civil War suffering from kidney complaint. Capt. Ely says: "I contracted kidney trouble during the Civil War, and the occasional attacks finally developed into a chronic case. At one time I had to use a crutch and cane to get about. My back was lame and weak, and besides the aching, there was a distressing retention of the kidney secretions. I was in a bad way when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills in 1901, but the remedy cured me, and I have been well ever since."

THE Peaceful Joy of the River.

An ingenious Spaniard says that "rivers and the inhabitants of the watery element were made for wise men to contemplate and fools to pass by without consideration." And though I will not rank myself in the number of the first, yet give me leave to free myself from the last, by offering to you a short contemplation, first of rivers, and then of fish; concerning which I doubt not but to give you many observations that will appear very considerable; I am sure they have appeared so to me, and made many an hour pass away more pleasantly, as I have sat quietly on a flowery bank by a calm river.—Isaac Walton.

THREE BOYS HAD ECZEMA.

Were Treated at Dispensary—Did Not Improve—Suffered Five Months—Perfect Cure by Cuticura.

"My three children had eczema for five months. A little sore would appear on the head and seemed very itchy, increasing day after day. The baby had had it about a week when the second boy took the disease and a few sores developed, then the third boy took it. For the first three months I took them to the N— Dispensary, but they did not seem to improve. Then I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and in a few weeks they had improved, and when their heads were well you could see nothing of the sores. Mrs. Kate Keim, 513 West 29th St., New York, N. Y., Nov. 1, 5 and 7, 1906."

Nicknames for War Vessels.

We had a ship called the Muriel, says the New York Press, and the sailors promptly dubbed her the Merry Hell. The Georgia, as everyone knows, is the Jaw-Jaw. The Pennsylvania is the Billy Penn. The Kearsarge is the Cuss-Age. The Washington is Papa George, and, singularly enough, is commanded by John Adams. The Indiana is Red Annie. The Terror is the Fear Her. The Cleveland is Grover. The Des Moines is The Mine. The Galveston is Shirtwaist—a clever hit. The Amphitrite is the Ample Tigh. The Solace is the One Ace.

What the Poet Says.

After their honeymoon to Niagara Falls they came back and settled on the old farm.

"Gracious, Silly!" said Cynthia. "Why are you in such a bad humor?"

"Making butter is blamed hard work," grumbled Silly, removing the beads from his brow.

"Oh, cheer up, Silly. Don't the poet say that it is 'love that makes the world go round'?"

"Yes, but, by gosh, it don't make the churn go round."

The Truth.

Gobsa Golde descended painfully from his 90-horse power limousine.

"I wish to purchase," he said, "an engagement ring."

"Yes, sir," said the eager clerk. "We have just imported a superb ring, sir—two ruby hearts surrounded—"

"No," said the aged millionaire, in a disillusioned voice; "no, that won't do. There is only one heart concerned in this affair. The girl is marrying me for my money."

FOUND OUT.

A Trained Nurse Made Discovery.

No one is in better position to know the value of food and drink than a trained nurse.

Speaking of coffee, a nurse of Wilkes Barre, Pa., writes: "I used to drink strong coffee myself, and suffered greatly from headaches and indigestion. While on a visit to my brother I had a good chance to try Postum Food Coffee, for they drank it altogether in place of ordinary coffee. In two weeks after using Postum I found I was much benefited and finally my headaches disappeared and also the indigestion."

"Naturally I have since used Postum among my patients, and have noticed a marked benefit where coffee has been left off and Postum used."

"I observed a curious fact about Postum when used among mothers. It greatly helps the flow of milk in cases where coffee is inclined to dry it up, and where tea causes nervousness."

"I find trouble in getting servants to make Postum properly. They must always serve it before it has been boiled long enough. It should be boiled 15 to 20 minutes after boiling begins and served with cream, when it is certainly a delicious beverage." Read "The Road to Wellville" in page "There's a Reason."

New in Natural History.
Not all English children are well posted on live stock. The following "howlers" are from essays exhibited at a recent show. The young horses have long legs, so that it might keep up to its mother when wild lions like the lion and tiger are after them to devour them. "The fowl," declares still another, "when alive is used for cock-fighting and when dead for its beautiful feathers." "The pig gets its wool coat off in summer. Then we get the wool of it. The pig is regarded as a bad creature."

MEDICAL FAILURES.
An Authority Says Three-Fourths of Graduates Are Unfitted to Practice.

That 3,000 out of the 4,000 graduates turned out by the Medical Colleges each year are wholly unfitted to practice medicine and are menaces to the communities in which they settle was stated by Dr. Chester Mayer, of the State Board of Medical Examiners of Kentucky at a meeting of the American Medical Association's Committee on Medical Education, held in Chicago not long ago. Dr. Mayer said that only 25 to 28 per cent of the graduates are qualified. Fifty-eight per cent of the graduates examined in 28 states were refused licenses. With few exceptions these failures took a second examination in a few weeks and only 50 per cent of them passed. "This does not mean that deficiencies in their training were corrected in those few weeks," Dr. Mayer said. "It probably shows that experience showed them what the test would probably be and they crammed for the examination." Dr. W. T. Gott, Secretary of the Indiana Board said: "The majority of our schools now teach their students how to pass examinations, not how to be good physicians."

At the session of the American Medical Association held in Atlantic City in June, Dr. M. Clayton Thrush, a professor in the Medical College in Philadelphia said: "Many doctors turned out of the Medical Schools are so ignorant in matters pertaining to pharmacy that they know nothing about the properties of the drugs they prescribe for their patients!" Dr. Henry Bates, Jr., President of the Pennsylvania State Board of Medical Examiners, after scrutinizing the papers of a class of candidates for licensure said: "About one quarter of the papers show a degree of illiteracy that renders the candidates for licensure incapable of understanding medicine."

A great many more physicians and chemists might be quoted in support of the astounding charge that 3,000 incompetents are being dumped out of an unsuspecting public each year. What the damage done amounts to can never be estimated for these incompetents enjoy the privilege of diagnosing, prescribing or dispensing drugs regarding the properties of which they know nothing and then of signing death certificates that are not passed upon by anyone unless the coroner is called in. Probably there is not a grave yard from one end of the country to the other that does not contain the buried evidences of the mistakes or criminal carelessness of incompetent physicians.

During the last year there have been perhaps, half a dozen known cases where surgeons, after performing operations have sewed up the incisions without first removing the gauze sponges used to absorb the blood, and in some cases forceps and even surgeon's scissors have been left in the wound. How many of these cases there have been, where the patient died, there is no means of knowing and comparatively few of the cases where the discovery is made in time to save life become generally public. Reports from Sanitariums for the treatment of the Drug Habit show that members of the medical profession are more often treated in these institutions than members of any other profession, and that a majority of the patients, excluding the physicians themselves, can trace their downfall directly to a careless physician.

How many criminal operations are performed by physicians is also a matter of conjecture. Operations of this class are, unfortunately, very frequent in large cities. Some graduated and licensed physicians, many of them of supposed respectability, make an exclusive practice of criminal medical and surgical treatment. Dr. Henry G. W. Rheinhardt, Coroner's physician of Chicago, estimates the number of criminal operations, annually, in Chicago alone at 38,000. How many resulted fatally are unknown, as when death results, the real cause is disguised in the death certificate, which the physician signs, and which no one but himself and a clerk sees.

Probably not one case of malpractice in 1,000 ever becomes the subject of a law suit, but in the last year approximately 150 cases wherein the plaintiff has alleged malpractice have been reported in the newspapers, and owing to the social prominence and the favored positions of many physicians not more than half the new suits stated, probably, result in any newspaper publicity, but it would probably not be an exaggeration to state that the total cases of malpractice, not involving criminal operations or criminal medical practice, would amount to 150,000 or more than one case to each physician in the country. This estimate is, of course, more or less conjecture. Untimely deaths and permanent disabilities are frequent, and occur within the knowledge of almost every one, when life could have been saved, or health restored had the physician been skillful, careful and competent.

WHAT FATHER AND HARRY ACCOMPLISHED

AN ILLINOIS MAN WRITES REGARDING HIS SUCCESS IN WESTERN CANADA.

Change in Homestead Regulations Makes Entry Easily Accomplished.

"Nothing succeeds like success" is an old and true saying having many applications in Western Canada. The following letter is an illustration. The writer, Mr. Gerts, left Chicago a short time ago and the success he has achieved may well be gained by anyone having pluck and energy by locating on the free homestead lands in Western Canada. A change recently made in the Canadian Land Regulations concerning homesteads makes it possible for any member of a family to make entry for any other member of the family entitled to a homestead. For instance, a man may now make entry before the local agent for his father or for his brother or brothers, or for his son or sons, or for a sister or daughter who may be the head of the family having minor children depending upon her for support. A sister, daughter or mother are also entitled to make entry upon a homestead. The only fee required is $10.00 for each entry. A great saving in railway expenses is thus made.

Read what Mr. Gerts has to say:

Battleford, Sask., Aug. 4, 1907.

Dear Sir:

Thinking a letter from us Northwest settlers might interest you, and I write a few lines and let you know we are progressing finely and well pleased with our new home.

When I think of the many hard working, industrious men east with families who are struggling for a living and doing the strenuous, laying up practically nothing for old age and the thousands of acres of land here yet to be plowed and cultivated capable of raising sixty to eighty bushels of oats, thirty to forty bushels of wheat, it certainly seems a pity the two cannot be brought together. But I will repeat, this country is only for the industrious and thrifty; also I might add, it requires some capital to start.

A man should have at least a team of three good horses; better to have mares so as to have some colts coming along each year. It is best to bring them with him as work horses are high. He should be able to purchase plow, disc and drag, harrow, drill, binder and hay rake. Of course several taking up claims or buying land near together can divide up the purchasing of the above machinery and exchange work. This plan will work well for a few years or until crops will warrant each individual to purchase a full outfit.

We have 480 acres of as good farm land as lies in the famous Cut Knife district. Every foot can be plowed. Last year our oats run 60 bushels per acre. I sold them for 50c per bushel on the place.

The indications are for a good crop this year, though we were very late in seeding owing to the late spring. Last winter was the coldest known in this country by the oldest settlers (some who have been here 35 years), but with a comfortable house and plenty of firewood, which we hauled four miles, we passed the winter quite pleasantly. The air is clear and dry. Some of the days I came from work I was surprised to find the thermometer registering 40° below zero. Though we never keep fire at night, we had nothing freeze in our cellar.

Our stock and chickens wintered fine. I have a yearling heifer, who

A Faithful Friend.
"Johnny can't come to work to-day, sir."
"Why not?"
"He's troubled somethin' awful with heat exhaustion, sir."
"Ah, yes. It's chronic, isn't it?"
"Yes, yes, sir."
"But didn't I see him playing ball in the vacant lot this morning?"
"Yes, yes, sir. You see, when he plays ball, sir, he forgets the pain, sir."

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

would hold her own in any "fat stock show." She has never had a drop of milk since she was four months old and has never had a mouthful of grain. A gentleman who saw her made the remark, "He bet that heifer had eaten her head off with grain," but would hardly believe she had never had any grain.

This is a great country for growing all kinds of vegetables and we are certainly enjoying our garden. The flavor of the green peas is especially fine. Last season Mrs. G. canned a lot of them, and we have enjoyed them up to the fresh crop.

I am sorry I did not have time this past season to attend to transplanting trees, but will keep the land I had prepared worked up for next season's planting. I received a number of small trees (ash and maple) from the Government Experimental Farm at Indian Head. I put them around the edge of the garden and they are doing fine. I also received quite a lot of other seeds, oats, wheat, potatoes and rhubarb roots which were acceptable.

It is useless for us to bother with garden flowers as wild ones grow in profusion. We are located near a fine creek, the water of which is soft and fine for bathing and washing. We have a well of water near the house, 32 feet deep and 21 feet of water all the time, though it is harder than the creek water.

Land which could be bought for five dollars per acre three years ago is now worth $14 per acre and steadily advancing each year.

All kinds of improvements are going on. Steam plows and large threshing outfits are already in. Roads are being graded, bridges being built across rivers and creeks. Last year I took my family, also wagon, across the Saskatchewan river in a row boat, swam my team across and now the contract has been let for $200,000 bridge at that place.

The C. N. R. have run their final survey from Battleford to Calgary, running west about one mile north of us. The C. P. R. have run a survey, which runs northwest passes about 500 feet from the northeast corner of our farm. The country will soon be covered with a net work of railroads and it will keep them busy hauling the output of grain. It is certainly encouraging to us settlers.

Two years ago, Harry, my son, and I as you know unloaded our car at Saskatoon and drove 130 miles to our claim. Last fall we had only 18 miles to haul our wheat to railroad and as you see, the prospects are we will have a railroad at our very door and a town nearby. This district can support a good town and it will be well patronized.

Harry arrived home at 12 p. m. last night after going fourteen miles to blacksmith shop to get plowshares beat out. The shop was full of work and it was eight p. m. when Harry left for home and parties still in line to have work done. We will need stores nearer and good mechanics.

We are all enjoying the best of health which is a great blessing. When we left Chicago over a year ago my youngest son's (four years of age) health was so poor that I almost despaired of raising him, but he is certainly a hearty, healthy little fellow now. The pure fresh air has done him worlds of good.

So to sum up the whole. Why should we not be glad we made the break? A good farm, stock increasing, health and an independent life. What more can we expect?

Did we have to make an effort? You can bet we did and hustle, too. Should you pass this way with your shotgun this fall, we should be pleased to let you shoot prairie chickens off our grain stacks.

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. M. GERTS AND FAMILY.

Young Hilary Weariness, the tramp, spoke politely, yet with some slight hauteur.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; unless cases of deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

A Little Courtship Comedy.
A good-looking, well-to-do bachelor of Manchester was being teased by some young women of his acquaintance for not being married. He said: "I'll marry the one of you whom on a secret vote you elect to be my wife." There were nine women in the company. Each one went into a corner and used great caution in preparing her ballot and disguised her handwriting.

The result was that there were nine votes cast, each receiving one. The man remains a bachelor, the friendship is broken up, and the women, all mortal enemies, united in the one determination that they will not speak to the man again.—The Tatler.

New to Him.

The leading lady of a road company playing in one of the smaller cities in Ohio concluded that she would press some of her lace collars one morning. She accordingly rang the bell, and when the hall boy appeared said:

"Bring me up a hot iron."

In course of time he returned empty handed, and when the lady answered his knock he said:

"I couldn't get it for you, lady."

"And why not?" she asked, mystified.

"The bartender said he didn't know how to mix it."

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all cough cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Waste of Wood in America.

Every person in the United States is using over six times as much wood as he would use if he were in Europe. The country as a whole consumes every year between three and four times as much wood as all the forests of the United States grow in the meantime. The average acre of forest lays up a store of only ten cubic feet annually, whereas it ought to be laying up at least 30 cubic feet in order to furnish the products taken out of it. Since 1880 more than 700,000,000,000 feet of timber have been cut for lumber alone, including 80,000,000,000 feet of coniferous timber in excess of the total coniferous stumpage estimate of the census of 1880.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go unhealed for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by J. H. Swan.

Herbs.

The housekeeper who has a kitchen garden—some women have conducted quite successful herb gardens in boxes on window-sills—need not be dependent upon the put-up herbs for seasoning. The herbs raised in the home garden are much more pungent when dried, and when thoroughly crumbled should be packed in airtight receptacles. In drying mint for winter's use, pick the herbs before they bloom, hang heads down in the garret, or spread on sheets of paper. When quite dry put in paper bags, again heads down, fasten tightly, and suspend from the garret beam ready for future use.

HINTS ABOUT DRESDEN CHINA.

Dealers Are on Watch to Swindle Unwary Amateur.

Many of the china figures labeled "Dresden" are only masquerading under that name and are not worthy the price paid for them. Real specimens of "Dresden" are expensive, even the smallest figure costing at least five dollars, and that will be probably a grotesque design. A piece of any artistic merit will be valued at $10 at the lowest. A nine-inch figure or group will be from $40 up. Statues in antique court costume and the celebrated shepherdesses made famous by Hans Christian Andersen are much sought by collectors. The average purchaser without knowledge is apt to think the amount of lace on a figure adds to its value. Except as a finish to the gown, or where it would be legitimately used, this lace filigree should be eschewed, as the rest of the figure generally suffers in the effort to produce so much trimming. Besides such figures are next to impossible to wash, as the meshes become so begrimed with dust, and a brush will break the dainty tracery. One should only buy bits of Dresden at first-class shops, and even then be careful in the figures selected.

Slaves in Connecticut.

The Slaves are colonizing Connecticut valley. Old Hadley is said to be full of them, occupying the colonial residences up and down the elm-shaded streets of that beautiful New England town in tenements, four or five families in a house, and even taking in boarders. Industry is their watchword, and they are taking up the farms that the New England stock is abandoning. They bring a lower standard of living. This is to be regretted, but, it is said, that they are making the New England farms pay, and as they get rich, they spend more and live better.—Lewiston Journal.
